Growth Story

THE CHALLENGE

Finding quality, targeted net new contacts to enable Concur's growing sales team.

Concur's sales team grew significantly over a two year period. With such a fast growing sales team, they needed to provide enough contacts, and fast, to quickly ramp the new sales reps and plug into their nurture and outbound campaigns to produce more leads. The sales team was also having trouble with the quality of their contact data and found that many of their phone numbers and email addresses were out of date.

"Our sales team was wasting time updating contact records manually instead of selling, and leaving room for human error, which was hurting productivity and the bottom line," stated Sean Goldie, Senior Segment Marketing Manager – SMB, at Concur.

THE SOLUTION

ZoomInfo helps Concur continuously identify, connect with & engage qualified prospects.

With ZoomInfo's contact data, Concur quickly filled in the gaps where they were missing important information, such as email address and direct dial phone number, in their existing database. They also uncovered 90% new targeted contacts compared to what they had before.

Additionally, the targeted campaigns using ZoomInfo data helped further align the sales and marketing organizations. Armed with the ability to build out contact lists to specific personas and companies has helped drive successful results from both a marketing and sales perspective.

"ZoomInfo's accurate data allowed the sales team to spend more time selling and less time researching. Of all the data we used from ZoomInfo, the vast majority had direct dial phone numbers, which we used to enable autodialing campaigns. We live in our CRM and our success is dependent on a high volume of quality data." said Goldie.
